10. STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

Desert Mounted Corps Memorial, a bronze sculpture, cast from that originally erected in Port Said, mounted on a granite cenotaph, has cultural heritage significance for the following reasons:

 - the place commemorates Australian and New Zealand soldiers who died during World War One;
 - the place displays artistic excellence;
 - a national war memorial, the place is highly valued by the local community and the nation at large; and,
 - the place is important for its landmark quality.
