10. STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE
Methodist Church (fmr), Denmark, a single-storey, Federation Carpenter Gothic church, constructed in weatherboard and corrugated iron, has cultural heritage significance for the following reasons:

the place was used as a place of worship by the Methodist Church from 1925 to 1982, and demonstrates continuity of the church's presence in Denmark since the late 1890s;

the place arises from the Methodist movement's 'Home Mission' programme of taking the denomination to recently settled areas;

the place represents the ebb and flow of the Methodist church in Denmark, resulting from population change; in particular, it reflects the increase in population resulting from the Group Settlement Scheme; and, the place is a good representative example of a timber church designed in the Federation Carpenter Gothic style.
