10. STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE
St. Columba's Church and Hall, a limestone and slate Church (1909) and a timber and iron Church Hall (1896), has cultural heritage significance for the following reasons:
 - the Hall is a fine example of the Federation Carpenter Gothic style of architecture, and the Church is a fine example of the Federation Gothic style of architecture;
 - the place is a landmark which addresses the corner of Venn and Keane Streets, Peppermint Grove;
 - the Hall was the first place of worship in Peppermint Grove and housed the original Cottesloe School;

the place has potential to contribute to an understanding of late nineteenth and early twentieth century construction techniques in Western Australia, because of the intact and original nature of the fabric.
