10. STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

Peninsula Hotel has cultural heritage significance for the following reasons:

it is possesses a bold and detailed external and internal design, and is largely unchanged; although no longer retaining its original function, the building is a rare and prominent example of an Edwardian Free Style hotel in metropolitan Perth; and,

for over eighty years the building has continued to be held in high regard as a focus of social and recreational activities for the Maylands community.
