10. STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE
Tarantella Night Club (fmr), a three storey stone building in Fremantle's West End, has cultural heritage significance for the following reasons:

the place, with its strong vertical form, deep recesses, rich masonry textures, and medieval motifs, is a fine idiosyncratic example of the Federation Romanesque style; designed to accommodate a combination of mercantile offices, residence, and warehouse, later used as a night club and, more recently, adapted to commercial and residential uses, the place demonstrates the evolution of the commercial centre of Fremantle;

the place is closely associated with the Imperial German Consul prior to World War One, with fables of his activities now part of Fremantle folklore; and, with its long associations with Fremantle's mercantile activities and nightlife the place contributes to the identity of Fremantle.
